

Page and Haisley

Published by The Jamaica Gleaner: Sunday | July 19, 2009

<http://www.jamaica-gleaner.com/gleaner/20090719/out/out1.html>

Generation Next: Young Attorneys share the spotlight with Kevin Page (right) and Garfield Haisley (third right) following the launch of Page & Haisley, Attorneys-at-Law at The Jamaica Pegasus on Monday, June 22. (From left) Emile Leiba, Janelle Leiba, Symone Mayhew and Julie Thompson-James.

Attorneys-at-Law, Kevin Page and Garfield Haisley, fulfilled another of their dreams with the launch of their law firm, Page and Haisley at The Jamaica Pegasus recently.

It's the continuation of a journey for both attorneys who were classmates and roommates at the University of the West Indies and Norman Manley Law School, and, having honed their skills since graduation in 2000, formed a partnership in 2008. The firm operates three offices in Linstead, Kingston and May Pen.

Page worked previously as assistant crown counsel at the Attorney General's Department and as legal counsel with the Jamaica Defence Force. Haisley also worked in the Attorney General's Department, at the law firm of Vacciana and Whittingham as well as for the legal department of The Cayman Islands government.